Man denies Nazi chant at Soubry

A PRO-Brexit activist has pleaded not guilty to harassing MP Anna Soubry.

James Goddard, 29, from Altrincham, Greater Manchester, is alleged to have called the MP a "Nazi" and a "traitor".

He denied three charges before the case at Westminster Magistrates' Court was temporarily adjourned when people in the public gallery started shouting.

Mr Goddard was remanded on bail until July 19 when he will face a two-day trial at the court in London.

He was held by police following protests outside Parliament and is charged with causing harassment between December 18 and January 7 and racially aggravated harassment, alarm or distress, and harassment, alarm or distress on January 7.

The charges have been brought under the Protection from Harassment Act 1997, the Crime and Disorder Act 1998, and the Public Order Act 1986.

Ms Soubry, the MP for Broxtowe who supports another Brexit referendum, resigned from the Conservative Party in February to join the Independent Group.

Employment in new record

THE number of employed people in the UK has risen again – to a new record number of 32.7million, figures from the Office for National Statistics show.

The 76.1 per cent employment rate is the highest since records began in 1971.

Unemployment fell by 35,000 to 1.34million between November and January, putting the rate below 4 per cent for the first time since 1975.

The figure is 112,000 lower than a year ago, giving a jobless rate of 3.9 per cent, below the EU average of 6.5 per cent.

BRITAIN 'A DESERT' BY 2044

CLIMATE change and a rising population mean that England is facing the 'jaws of death', where demand for water could surpass the supply available in the next 25 years.

Sir James Bevan, 59, chief executive of the Environment Agency, said the UK could have a water shortage by 2044.

Speaking before the Waterwise conference in London, he added that water leakage was also to blame for the loss of water in the UK.

In England and Wales, a third of water comes from aquifers, underground sources, with this figure being at six per cent for Northern Ireland and three per cent for Scotland.

The rest comes from reservoirs, lakes and rivers.

Bevan said: "We need water wastage to be as socially unacceptable as blowing smoke in the face of a baby or throwing your plastic bags into the sea."

Disaster

Outlining potential methods of avoiding the disaster, Bevan said that people need to cut daily water use by a third, from 140 litres to 100 litres, over the next 20 years.

While water companies need to cut down leakage from their pipes by 50 per cent.

Currently, the UK loses more than three billion litres of water a year to leakage, be it individual or from water companies.

Bevan highlighted the need for more reservoirs, more desalination plants and more transfers of water across the UK.

The building of new mega-reservoirs is seen as controversial, but Bevan believes it is the 'right thing to do'.

By 2040, summers are expected to be hotter than ever, with more than half seeing temperatures higher than the 2003 heatwave.

WATER WORRY: We could soon go short

Hundreds watched New Zealand massacre live on facebook ... NOBODY raised alarm

NOBODY reported the video of the Christchurch terror attack while it was being streamed live, Facebook has said.

It was 29 minutes after the video had started – and 12 minutes after it had ended – before the first user flagged up the footage, the social media company revealed.

A blog post by Chris Sonderby, vice president and deputy general counsel at Facebook, said the video was viewed fewer than 200 times during its live broadcast.

"The video was viewed about

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

4,000 times in total before being removed from Facebook," he added.

"The first user report on the original video came in 29 minutes after the video started, and 12 minutes after the live broadcast ended.

"Before we were alerted to the video, a user on 8chan posted a link to a copy of the video on a file-sharing site."

Mr Sonderby said Facebook was "working around the clock" to prevent the video from appearing on its site.

Prime Minister Theresa

May has said the New Zealand mosque attack and the stabbing of a teenager in Surrey fitted a "pattern of concern" that the threat from the far right was on the rise.

Ministers attending the weekly meeting of the Cabinet in Downing Street expressed their sympathies for victims of the attack in New Zealand.

Vile

"The Prime Minister said there could be no place for vile extremist views in society and people must be able to practise their faith without fear," the Prime Minister's official spokesman said.

"She said that intensive work was taking place across government and by the police and security services to combat the threat."

Home Secretary Sajid Javid said there was a "real sense of anxiety" among the British Muslim community and he would announce additional funding for the protection of places of worship.

The Cabinet also expressed "great concern" at the way the New Zealand attack had been live-streamed on Facebook.

The PM's spokesman said ministers had agreed the need to maintain pressure on social media companies to "proactively" prevent the spread of terrorist content.

Giroud gets driving ban for speeding a 4th time

CHELSEA striker Olivier Giroud has been banned from driving for six months after admitting speeding in his Bentley – his fourth offence in less than a year.

Giroud (above), 32, who lifted the World Cup for France last year, was clocked at 60mph in a 50mph zone on the North Circular in Willesden, north-west London, in May.

Before Willesden magistrates yesterday, the former Arsenal star was disqualified from driving after three penalty points were added to his licence, taking him to the 12-point limit.

He was also fined £600 and ordered to pay a £60 victim surcharge and £85 in costs.

Giroud did not attend the hearing, which had been due to be held in the afternoon but was moved at short notice to the morning.

The Frenchman had admitted the offence in November, naming himself as the driver, the court had heard.

He had amassed nine points with three separate speeding offences in 2018.

CABINET SPLIT OVER BREXIT DELAY

THERESA May is writing to the EU to ask for Brexit to be postponed until June 30 with the option of a longer delay, cabinet sources say.

But the government is split on how to proceed and one minister said there was "no agreement" around the cabinet table.

Another source expressed frustration that the prime minister did not make a clear indication of the option she would actually argue for. Under current law the UK will leave the EU with or without a deal in nine days.

The prime minister says the UK will need a short extension to get the necessary legislation through Parliament, if MPs back her withdrawal deal.

She has warned Brexiteer Tories a longer extension will be needed if the deal does not get through Parliament, but any delay will have to be agreed by all 27 EU member states.

One cabinet source said the longer delay could be up to two years, but Downing Street sources said there was no final decision.

Commons leader Andrea Leadsom is said to have criticised her colleagues, saying it is now a "Remain cabinet", not a "Brexit Cabinet".

FELINE DUMB:
Shane Dawson

YouTube star forced to make bizarre apology

A YOUTUBE comedian has told his 21MILLION followers – I did NOT fk my cat!

Online sensation Shane Dawson was forced into the public denial after facing a backlash online following a crude joke he made.

Shane, 30, who also has millions of Twitter followers, fired off a series of tweets after a 2015 clip of him admitting to performing a sex act on his cat resurfaced online.

Dawson made the initial comments in a podcast during which he claimed to have done "terrible things" to his pets.

Weird

"One time, I laid my cat down on her back," he said, before adding that he "came all over her."

Shane went on to say that he was 19 years old at the time.

But the audio of the podcast resurfaced on Twitter on Sunday, which prompted Shane to deny the story was ever true.

He Tweeted: "I didn't fk my cat. I didn't cum on my cat. I didn't put my dick anywhere near my cat. I've never done anything weird with my cats."

By ROY DURRIDGE

"I've apologised many times for all the dumb shit I've said in videos and podcasts over the years. I've learned my lesson over and over and I'm more confident now in my ability to be entertaining by just being myself and not being so shocking for laughs."

"That story was fake and was based on a dumb awful sketch idea I had years ago that I never made (THANK GOD) and when the opportunity came up for a funny moment in the podcast I told it as if it was a real story which was VERY DUMB."

Shane has previously sparked controversy over comments he has made about paedophilia.

NAN SET FOR FILM RETURN

COMIC Catherine Tate is set to bring her potty-mouthed OAP alter-ego back to the screen.

The star's foul-mouthed pensioner, Nan, was one of the most popular creations from The Catherine Tate Show, which ran from 2004 to 2009.

The TV series also featured schoolgirl Lauren "Am I Bovered" Cooper and Tate's granny character later returned in one-off TV specials.

Catherine, 50, said: "I've written a Nan film."

"That's the character that's got the legs to carry on."

Boyfriend of dead Love Island star 'hanged himself'

THE distraught boyfriend of Love Island contestant Sophie Gradon took his own life weeks after he found her hanging, a coroner has ruled.

Aaron Armstrong's mother, Donna, discovered him in his bedroom at the family home in Blyth, Northumberland, on July 10 last year, an inquest in North Shields was told.

The fit and healthy boat captain had hanged himself.

Coroner Eric Armstrong found that the 25-year-old had alcohol and cocaine in his body when he died, and the effects of the substances had prevented him from thinking rationally.

The coroner clarified this was not a suicide verdict, but returned a narrative conclusion that Mr Armstrong "having consumed alcohol and cocaine, took his own life by hanging".

Mr Armstrong and his brother Ryan had found Miss Gradon, 32, hanging at her home in Ponteland, Northumberland, the previous month.

Pub landlord in war on hookers

A DISGRUNTLED landlord is threatening to "take the law into his own hands" after claiming his boozer is under siege from HOOKERS!

Tony Campbell, 55, says he continuously has to ask prostitutes standing outside his corner pub to move on as they pester regulars for sex.

He claims around 15 women cover the length of the road outside his bar looking for business.

Tony says it's getting so bad, some locals want to get up a posse to drive them from their street.

Tony, who runs The Criterion pub in Hull, said: "Prostitution is really bad and the thing is, it's local women, not Eastern Europeans."

"Their pimps are always outside shouting and I tell them if they don't go, I'd break their legs, but if that happens then I would be getting arrested."

THE TEATS OF SAN FRANCISCO!

Hippies strip for nude parade

IT'S one of the weirdest cities in the USA – a hotly-contested crown – and San Francisco didn't disappoint at the weekend with its annual Nude Love Parade.

Three dozen people paraded around naked in the fourth annual event, which celebrates the human body and protests the city's nudity ban.

Although most participants were elderly homosexual men, there was enough titty on show to make it interesting.

Activist

Many held signs with messages supporting nudism such as "Born This Way".

Parade organizer and nudist activist Gypsy Taubshouted over a megaphone: "Don't believe the lie. Your body is beautiful," and "It doesn't matter what size or shape your body is, it doesn't matter what age or gender."

"Your body was made by God, and God doesn't make mistakes." The parade began as a protest against the city's ban on public nudity introduced in 2012. Taub says it's now "a celebration of freedom of choice and freedom of expression, and a celebration of the beauty of the human body".

But while public nudity is still illegal in San Francisco, groups can apply for permits to allow nudity for things like parades, fairs and some festivals, as was the case with the Nude Love Parade.

This is a bust!

After Biblical floods swamp Britain (and Sport HQ)... BUST OUT THE BIKINIS AGAIN!

BIKINI weather is set to return after heavy rain in recent days flooded vast areas of Britain – including Midweek Sport's CELLAR!

The rest of March is set to be mild, with above-average temperatures expected for the time of year.

Following heavy rain and bitter winds, the mercury will rise to a balmy 17C (62.6F) in some parts of the UK on Wednesday and Thursday.

The average maximum temperature for the UK in March is just 8.9C (48F).

Eastern parts of the country, which are sheltered from westerly winds, are likely to see the best of the sunshine and warmer weather, the Met Office said.

"If the sun comes out later in the week we could see a 17C peak temperature, but the majority of temperatures are going to be more around the mid-teens," said spokesman Richard Miles.

"It will pretty much be mild everywhere but it's just that those peak temperatures are more likely to be on the eastern side of the country."

Aberdeen could hit 17C (62.6F), while the Midlands is likely to see 15C (59F) and west Wales around 12C (53.6F).

The drier and warmer weather will come as a welcome relief after heavy downpours last weekend, with parts of Wales having half a month's rainfall in just one day.

Downpours also led to flooding in the Sport's Manchester basement archive.

Dedicated staff worked through the night to rescue priceless Sport front covers and a former editor's iconic "poo bucket".

Tina's blubs over fine for Bulger gaffe

ACTRESS Tina Malone broke down in tears on This Morning after avoiding jail for sharing an alleged picture of James Bulger killer Jon Venables online.

The Shameless star, who admitted in court to breaching a ban on publishing anything that purportedly reveals the new identity of Venables, said the repercussions of her actions have been "horrendous".

Last week, Tina (above), 56, was handed an eight-month suspended sentence and ordered to pay £10,000 costs.

She told the ITV programme that the fine means she is unable to take her daughter to Disneyland Paris this summer.

Tearfully, she said she did not realise that her actions were illegal when she shared a Facebook post that included a photograph purporting to be of Venables and his current name, adding: "I just happened to believe that anything that's on the internet it's legal. It isn't."

LESBIAN BOUNCER STABBED WOMAN OVER 'UGLY DYKE' JIBE

Court told girlfriend held victim's hair

SCUFFLE: Jade and Megan Madden

A HEAVILY pregnant lesbian bride-to-be fled a court in tears as she dodged jail over a frenzied knife attack in which her same-sex fiancée stabbed another woman.

Jade Madden, 21, who had only just come out as gay, was with 22-year old partner Megan Madden when both got caught up in a catfight with two other women over alleged homophobic comments near Manchester's gay village.

During the assault Jade, who claimed she had been branded an "ugly dyke" grabbed Adele Riley by the hair before delivering repeated strikes to the victim's face and neck with a penknife.

Mother-of-two Miss Riley, 30, suffered two superficial injuries and three head wounds.

Intent

At Manchester Crown Court, Megan, of Old Trafford, was jailed for five years and 10 months after admitting wounding with intent and having a bladed article.

Jade, from Fallowfield, who is due to give birth in two months, sobbed as she walked free with six weeks' jail suspended a year after admitting threatening behaviour.

The incident occurred after they encountered Miss Riley on Portland Street in the city centre whilst seeing in 2018.

The victim was thrown out of a bar after a confrontation with a friend of the Maddens.

Alexandra Sutton prosecuting said: "The confrontation on the street continued with Smith arguing with Miss Riley's cousin.

"Whatever was said clearly angered the Maddens and they were involved in a scuffle.

"Jade can be seen to pull Miss Riley's hair to the pavement. Megan can be seen delivering repeated strikes to the face and neck of Miss Riley. The evidence is Megan pulled a knife, possibly a penknife, and there were two bursts of stabbing."

In mitigation for Megan, Dan Gaskell said: "She acted out of character this night – a serious one-off that is going to have significant consequences for her, her partner and their child."

For Jade, Philip Mahoney said: "The victim is seen shouting at Jade Madden calling her an ugly dyke."

Sentencing Judge Alan Conrad QC said: "The carrying of a knives are matters of great concern."

MURDER ACCUSED 'LIVED WITH CORPSE FOR A MONTH'

AN alleged killer lived alongside the corpse of a woman he throttled for more than a month, a court heard.

Kristian Smith, 41, allegedly murdered 52-year-old Antoinette Donnegan (right) at a flat in Wandsworth, southwest London.

Prosecutors claim she was killed in early February but her body was not discovered until March 7.

A post-mortem found she had seven broken ribs, a deep gash to her head, and had been strangled by clothing.

Smith appeared at the Old Bailey yesterday via video link. Speaking only to confirm his age, name and nationality, he is also charged with fraud and preventing a lawful burial.

The prosecutor, said: "At this stage, this looks to be a vicious attack against the victim in the course of which she was strangled and left for dead and he carried about his normal business until the police found her."

Smith, of no fixed address, will return for a plea and trial preparation hearing on June 4.

Loan ad banned for 'playing on Brexit fears'

AN ad for a high-cost loan which used uncertainty around Brexit to encourage consumers to stockpile food has been banned for being socially irresponsible.

A January 24 email from Cash On Go, trading as Peachy.co.uk, a financial services company specialising in short-term loans, stated: "No one really knows what's going on with this whole Brexit malarkey... and some say it could affect the amount of food available..."

"We do not want to believe that Brexit will impact the amount of food available but it's still a good idea to have a little stockpile ready."

Bold text stated "In case of emergency press here" and offered a promotional discount.

A reader complained the ad irresponsibly encouraged people to take out a loan by playing on their fears.

Banning the ad, the Advertising Standards Authority (ASA) said the references to possible food shortages and the stockpiling of food were "likely to play on some people's concerns regarding Brexit, including financially vulnerable consumers who were already struggling or worrying about their financial situation."

RECORD PLAYERS!

As Sky Chris releases album, we look at other footie stars who've had hits

TV footy pundit Chris Kamara is recording a swing album.

The Sky Sports broadcaster, 61, has already been in the studio with a big band to work on his first ever record.

The ex-Leeds United player is hoping to follow in the footsteps of The Chase host Bradley Walsh, 58, whose album of swing covers became the biggest selling debut album by a British artist in 2016.

By JUSTIN DUNN news@sundaysport.co.uk

An insider said: "Our Chris loves to sing and he's got the balls of steel to give this a go."

"His ultimate aim is for a Christmas number one – but in all honesty he'd be delighted just to flog a few records with his name on."

Cheery Chris, renowned for making his trademark comment 'Unbelievable' when covering games for Sky, isn't the first football star to chance their arm in the competitive world of pop.

Here's how a few others got on...

ANDY COLE
ONCE upon a time, Andrew – he insists on being called Andrew these days – was a fabulous Manchester United forward known to millions around the world as Andy.

But as so often happens in the beautiful game, they bang a few in the back of the net and suddenly think they have taken on God-like status.

The natural result of this bout of screeching hubris was the chart release of the quite dreadful Outstanding, on the back of Man United's treble-winning success in the 1998-99 season.

KEVIN KEEGAN
HE delighted the Anfield and Newcastle throngs, put man-perms on the map, promoted Brut, and famously made an absolute twat of himself on telly blabbering about Sir Alex Ferguson.

But what Kevin Keegan will desperately want the world to forget is his dire attempt at pop chart stardom.

His 1979 effort – Head Over Heels In Love – has been described variously as "excruciating", "dreadful" and "shite".

But in all honesty, it wasn't even THAT good.

GLENN HODDLE & CHRIS WADDLE
WHEN not suggesting disabled people were being punished for their behaviour in a previous life, former England manager and Spurs hero Glenn Hoddle had another string to his bow – loving himself.

With that in mind, he joined up with fellow mullett-wearing soccer star Chris Waddle to make the dross that was 1987's Diamond Lights.

Lamented as a cross between a cup of cold dog sick and hen shit, the single nevertheless made No.12 in what used to be the hit parade before rap "music" started.

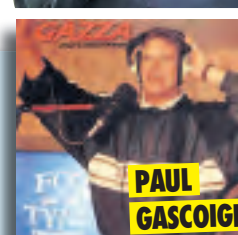

IAN WRIGHT
IAN Wright is something of a Marmite figure – people either dislike the former Arsenal and England great, or they absolutely adore him.

This outcome could largely be laid at the door of his questionable performances as a pundit on Match of the Day, which some think taints his unquestionable ability as a player.

But our guess is that the great British public will never forgive him for the dirge that was 1993's single Do The Right Thing, which scraped in at a miserly 43.

Hurts to even think about it.

PAUL GASCOIGNE
WE all love Paul Gascoigne, not least because he burst into tears when he got booked in THAT World Cup semi-final in 1990.

The former Sunday Sport columnist and brilliant midfielder should, however, steer clear of a musical recording studio.

He made the rest of the country weep with despair in 1990 by releasing Fog On The Tyne with Lindisfarne.

And his second single of that year, Geordie Boys (Gazza Rap), is right down there with a broken sewer pipe, a run-over badger and, perhaps, Hell itself.

Sam's stopping women joining the fire service

FIREMAN Sam is putting women off joining the fire service because "most of the job is nothing like it is portrayed", a female chief has said.

Senior fire officer Alex Johnson believes the CGI firefighting idol and images of men rushing into burning buildings does little to encourage gender equality.

She is campaigning to attract more women into the 999 service with just 5.2 per cent of firefighters in England women. In 2017 there were 1,838 female firefighters compared to 33,782 males.

Ms Johnson, of South Yorkshire Fire and Rescue, said "This is largely because of the image of firefighters portrayed in the media and in films.

"Children's shows like Fireman Sam don't help to break down stereotypes either.

“Women and people from different ethnic backgrounds are simply not considering being a firefighter because they are not seeing themselves represented.”

FETISH SHOCK FOR GEORGIA MAY FOOTE IN COFFEE SHOP

'An elderly man just tickled my feet in Costa!'

TARGET: Georgia had foot groped in coffee shop

By JOSH BROWN news@sundaysport.co.uk

FORMER Corrie beauty Georgia May Foote got more than she bargained for while stopping off for a coffee.

The stunning actress shocked her social media fans when she shared her experience at a Costa Coffee outlet in Middleton, Gtr Manchester.

Georgia, 28 – who used to play gymslip mum Katy Armstrong on the Street, said an “elderly” man stopped and TICKLED her foot – even though she was wearing shoes!

She told her 329,000 followers: “An elderly man just stood up and tickled my foot in Costa as he left.

Bottom

“But I have my shoes on obvs. So he just tickled the bottom of my boot! Is this normal behaviour in Middleton?”

She then followed up her remark with a laughing emoji.

Georgia was last seen on TV screens in 2015 on BBC1's Strictly Come Dancing, when she was runner-up to eventual winner Jay McGuiness.

In the same year she was voted 98th in FHM mag's Sexiest Women list.

Georgia is an active social media user, updating fans almost daily with glamorous photos from her life and sexy modelling shoots.

She is joining Original Theatre on their UK tour of “Napoli, Brooklyn”, playing the part of Vita, from April until July.

'Cultured meat' bangers and burgers on way

SPACE-AGE meat grown from cells in a laboratory could be on supermarket shelves within five years, according to scientists.

The product, known as ‘cultured meat’ or ‘clean meat’, involves a biopsy being taken from an animal such as a pig or a cow.

Stem cells from that sample are then placed in a reactor in a laboratory, where they are fed a solution of glucose, amino acids, vitamins and minerals.

Researchers at the University of Bath are growing cells on blades of grass, allowing them to multiply and become the mature muscle cells that form ‘cultured meat’.

Dr Marianne Ellis, senior lecturer in biochemical engineering, said the current texture of ‘cultured meat’ makes it best suited to sausages and burgers.

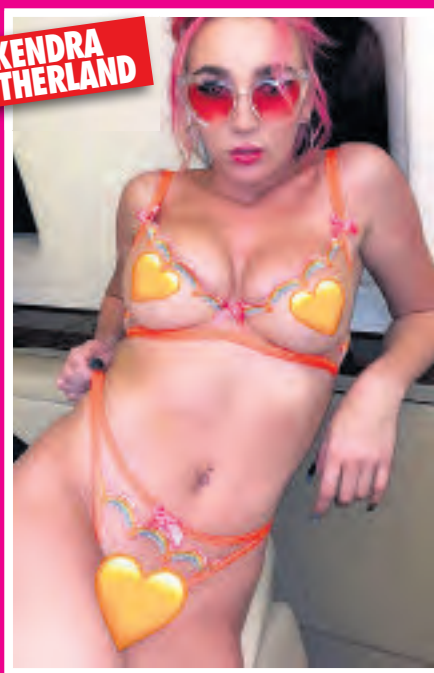

And it won't be long before shoppers can try out the new product.

Dr Ellis said: “In terms of when we're likely to see it in the supermarkets, probably the most advanced company out there at the moment are predicting four to five years.”

WELSH babe Jess Davies has revealed she absolutely loves flashing her HUGE boobs in public!

The 22-year-old student stunna, from Aberystwyth, West Wales, admitted she recently whipped 'em out in front of shocked passengers on a train.

Jess was trying to take a cheeky TOPLESS selfie at the time, only to discover she had displayed her 28G whoppers to a lucky stranger!

And here she is today, to treat our deserving Midweek Sport readers to the exact same treatment in these jaw-dropping snaps.

She said: "I recently flashed a guy – but it was an accident!

"It happened the other day. I was bored on the train, so I took a quick photo of my boobs and sent it to a friend using Snapchat!

"But I got caught out!

"The guy sitting a few seats away saw everything. It was really embarrassing – but hilarious at the same time."

Lad blew head off after 'humiliation' of romps

A TEENAGER who had kinky classroom romps with a sex-crazed female teacher killed himself after feeling 'humiliated'.

Tragic Corbin Madison, 18, was one of four pupils targeted by randy Tennille Whitaker.

He was found with a gunshot wound to the head in a truck one year after the married Nevada teacher was arrested.

She set up a 'private reading area' in her classroom that could not be seen from the hallway or any outside windows.

In the private area Whitaker would wank off the lads, suck their penises and have full sex while reclining with her legs spread on a pile of what she called "Fk cushions".

Depression

Corbin's father, Terry, is now suing education bosses for allegedly letting Whitaker get away with the sexual acts, not just with his son but with other students too.

The lawsuit, seeking $45,000 in damages, claims Corbin killed himself because of the 'depression, humiliation and embarrassment' triggered after being exploited by Whitaker.

The mother-of-two was jailed for 20 years last October on four counts of sexual conduct between a school employee and a pupil.

The lawsuit accuses Elko County School District of a 'failure to address, prevent and/or remove known sexual predators from its ranks'.

It also alleges that former Wells High School principal Chris McAnany was warned six times that Whitaker was having 'unlawful sexual relations with minor students'.

It said the district had responded with 'deliberate indifference to this known and obvious danger'.

As a result, the victims suffered fear, anxiety, mental and emotional distress, embarrassment, lack of self-esteem, disgrace and humiliation.

Right-on mum's sex tips for kids

A HORRIFIED mum had to apologise after putting a book with sex tips in kids' goody bags.

The right-on parent gave 1001 Ways You Can Save The Planet and other treats to seven-year-olds after her daughter's birthday party.

The book features tips on being environmentally friendly, such as not leaving appliances on standby.

But there is also a section on sex, which includes advice on "animal-free bondage gear", "solar powered vibrators" and choosing "eco-lube".

Parents whose children went to the party in Stoke Newington, north London, tweeted how they'd had panicked texts from the mum.

After her mistake went viral one user said: "I guess it was on page 69?"

Life for 23-stone monster who killed girl by SITTING on her

AN obese woman has been jailed for life for killing her nine-year-old cousin by SITTING on her as a form of punishment.

Veronica Green Posey, 66, was convicted of murder after smothering Dericka Lindsay at the girl's home in Pensacola, Florida. The child suffocated after 23-stone lardarse Posey sat on her for more than five minutes.

Prosecutors said Dericka suffered horrific beatings from her adoptive parents, James and Grace Smith, and her cousin when she misbehaved.

Whip

The abuse came to a head on 14 October, 2017, when Posey was woken by Ms Smith phoning her to complain she could not control Dericka and her eight-year-old sister. "Once her feet hit the floor getting out of bed, she was determined to beat these children," assistant state attorney Amy Shea told a trial at Escambia County's circuit court. Posey took a ruler and pipe to the family's home and used them to help

Ms Smith "whip" Dericka, it was reported.

As the girl struggled, Posey sat on her back, pushing Dericka's chest into the arm of a chair.

The child reportedly screamed twice that she could not breathe.

After Posey got up, she realised Dericka was not breathing and called 911.

An autopsy revealed Dericka had severe bruising on her buttocks that a pathologist described as "injury, on top of injury, on top of injury".

Posey's lawyer, Michael Griffith, argued she had not intended to hurt Dericka and that the Smiths were responsible for their daughter's abuse.

But jurors found Posey guilty of first-degree murder.

James Smith had previously been jailed for 10 years for child cruelty.

His wife, who suffers from mental and physical illnesses, was found unfit to stand trial but could be prosecuted at later date.

Perv vicar 'drugged woman's tea and sexually abused her'

A DIRTY vicar offered a woman drugged tea at his vicarage - then sexually abused her when she passed out.

Father Jean Claude Jean-Philippe, 64 - who had officiated at his victim's wedding - is now charged with sexual battery of an incapacitated victim.

Jean-Philippe (above) allegedly invited her to his residence on church grounds in Miami-Dade county, Florida, and offered her tea.

She accepted, and passed out, only to wake up two hours later naked in his bed, according to cops.

Jean-Philippe, who was in underwear and shirtless, denied sexually assaulting her, but she smelled SPUNK and called cops.

The Archdiocese of Miami have put Jean-Philippe on administrative leave.

He has admitted to the sexual assault, as well as massaging her with oil, cops said.

IN times long ago, ladies often went about wearing sexy corsets.

The garments pulled everything while also accentuating busters of ladies for many generations.

Unfortunately, corsets were made out of whalebones – and when communist agitators got whaling banned, corsets fell out of favour.

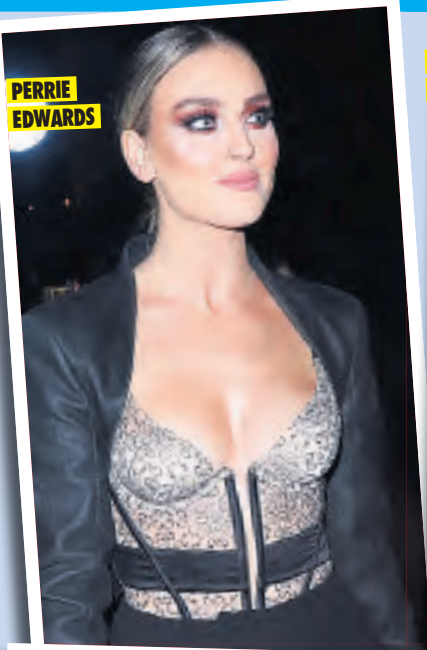

But thanks to space-age technology, the corset has been re-born as the basque – a nice item of undercrackery that is every bit as sexy as its forerunner.

And although the basque is named after a breed of Spaniard most famous for hurling bombs at policemen, we are all in favour of this alluring garment.

So today, we present an amazing five-page tribute to Babes in Basques!...

AS CALIFORNIA HALTS EXECUTIONS, SPARING THE WE EXAMINE THE...

CHARLES NG

EVEN by murderers' standards, the crimes committed by Charles Ng are not for the faint of heart.

In the early 1980s, along with his twisted accomplice Leonard Lake, Hong Kong-born Ng abducted, tortured and murdered entire families at a remote cabin in northern California – frequently recording their exploits on video.

In efforts to create a stable of sex slaves, they terrorised potentially dozens of people – men and women – in their makeshift bomb shelter in preparation for a nuclear holocaust that would require them to repopulate the Earth.

To fund the torture bunker the two had built to house their victims, Lake killed his own brother, Donald, stealing his identity and available assets.

Lake and Ng are known to have killed at least 11 people, though some estimate that the total is closer to 35.

While some victims were killed quickly, others endured days of torture and sexual abuse before granted the release of death.

Pornography

To hide their female victims and force them into submission, Ng and Lake built a cinder-block bunker that served as a nightmarish prison.

When police searched the property, they discovered a false wall, behind which was a 6ft by 4ft foot-room with only a bucket and toilet paper inside.

The room, lined with a one-way mirror so someone on the outside could watch the captive within, also had a list of rules posted inside that detailed the horrors Ng and Lake's victims faced.

A fan of deviant pornography, Lake enjoyed videotaping the victims as they assaulted and tortured them.

One was played during Ng's trial, stunning the courtroom.

A matter-of-fact Ng calmly told his distressed victim: "You can cry like the rest of them, but it won't do you any good. We're pretty coldhearted."

In at least two instances, Ng and Lake kidnapped families of three, each with infant sons.

The men and children were killed fairly quickly, but the women were kept alive for days or weeks and sometimes forced to participate in sexual acts under the false pretence of seeing their families again.

When the two men were finally apprehended and the property in Wilseyville, California, was combed, investigators discovered a haunting series of tapes.

Some showed fathers and children being forced to watch their female loved ones being tortured and assaulted.

When the land was excavated the bodies of seven men, three women and two infant children were found, along with charred human bone fragments – suggesting there may have been even more victims.

Cyanide

Bizarrely, the pair were actually caught after being arrested for shoplifting – when they went to a nearby hardware store to replace a broken vice that had been used to torture their victims.

When Lake was arrested, he recognised he was in a dire situation, asked for a glass of water and took his first moment alone to write a short note.

He then removed two deadly cyanide pills from his lapel – which he always kept on him for such an eventuality – and swallowed them, leading to his death just a few days later.

Ng fled to Canada, but he was eventually arrested there too for shoplifting and returned to California after being extradited in 1991.

He successfully avoided trial for eight years – one of the longest legal proceedings in California history.

But he was finally found guilty of six counts of murder and sentenced to death.

REPRIEVE: Governor Newsom pledged to suspend the death penalty

BEASTS DEATH

RODNEY ALCALA

THE Dating Game Killer – as he was dubbed due to his appearance on the US TV show in 1978 – Rodney Alcala is a serial killer with a victim count that may be as high as 130 people.

During the 1960s and 1970s, Alcala committed numerous rapes and murders in at least four US states – California, New York, Wyoming, and Washington.

Many of his victims were as young as 12 – and his first stint in prison was for raping and beating an eight-year-old girl.

Alcala was born Rodrigo Jacques Alcala Buquor in San Antonio, Texas, in 1943, spending his early years in Mexico before eventually moving to Los Angeles with his mother and siblings.

After a stint in the army, Alcala graduated from college and attended university, leaving a trail of victims in his wake.

Alcala lured many of them by telling them he was a professional

FACES OF DEATH: Just some of his victims fashion photographer, catching the attention of young women who wanted to be models.

He would then have them pose for pictures at various locations, some in sexually suggestive poses, and in many cases he then raped and murdered them.

Alcala was eventually convicted of committing five murders but has confessed to an additional 30.

But based on the number of pictures that he took of his victims, and the many different locations that accusations poured in, he might have actually killed closer to 130 women.

His criminal career began in

LIVES OF BLOODTHIRSTY KILLERS,

DAVID CARPENTER

EXECUTIONS have been halted by the new Governor of California, who has issued a temporary reprieve for all 737 inmates on Death Row.

Gavin Newsom's order described the death penalty as "inconsistent with our bedrock values" – much to the disapproval of US President Donald Trump.

California has not carried out any executions since 2006, as a series of court battles over execution

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk methods have been waged pretty much non-stop.

No death row inmates will be released under the state-wide moratorium.

Governor Newsom took office in January and suspension of the death penalty was one of his campaign pledges.

He said: "I do not believe that a civilised society can claim to be a leader in the world as long as its government continues to sanction the premeditated and discriminatory execution of its people."

He said he took the action "with a heavy heart" and "with deep appreciation for the emotions that drive this issue", saying he still "believed in justice".

The order will also withdraw California's lethal injection protocol and close down the state's execution chamber at San Quentin prison.

President Trump has criticised the executive order in a tweet, saying the "forgotten" friends and families of the victims are not "thrilled".

It leaves some of the United States' most bloodthirsty killers in limbo behind bars – and here, we take a look at some of the most infamous...

1972 when he raped and tortured eight-year-old Tali Shapiro, then beat her to within an inch of her life with a steel bar.

She survived, but her parents wouldn't let her testify against him, which might have led to a longer jail sentence. Instead, he got away with a mere 34 months for committing child molestation.

Six years later, Alcala went on popular game show The Dating Game and managed to be "Bachelor Number One," despite the fact that he had already killed several women by that time.

Creepy

Producers somehow managed to miss his criminal record.

He was described as having "every ounce" of charm while on the show and actually won a date with Cheryl Bradshaw, the episode's bachelorette.

They never did go on that date though – as Bradshaw thought he was "creepy".

Alcala's method of killing his victims involved torturing them with repeated strangulation – strangling them until they blacked out and, once they woke up, strangling them again.

He also raped his victims and beat some of them with metal rods and other items.

In 1979, police managed to find a storage locker in Seattle that had been rented under Alcala's name.

It was filled with hundreds of pictures of women, which they used to connect him to his victims, though not all have been identified.

After two botched trials, his prosecution finally got under way.

In March 2010, he was sentenced to death.

But it's now extremely doubtful that will happen.

FAME: Alcala appeared on TV gameshow

DAVID Joseph Carpenter is the Trailside Killer of the early 1980s whose murders spread fear throughout San Francisco's parks and open spaces.

In eight months between 1980 and 1981, Carpenter murdered six women and one man along trails in the Marin and Santa Cruz counties of California.

Many of the women were raped. An eighth would-be victim survived to identify him – and Carpenter, now 88, remains on San Quentin's Death Row.

The killing of Mary Frances Bennett, 23, in San Francisco in 1979 was one of several other slayings for which police suspected Carpenter but were never able to bring a case against him.

Bennett had been stabbed at least 25 times in the neck, chest and back.

Her body had been buried beneath a thin layer of dirt and branches. One shocked police officer said she had been "butchered".

Shot

After Carpenter was arrested in 1981, San Francisco police identified him as a suspect in Bennett's slaying.

Then, for nearly 30 years, the case lay dormant – until DNA would finally convict him of the cold case.

Carpenter was grey-haired, bespectacled and spoke with a severe stutter. He had a record of sex crimes stretching back to 1947.

During a six-week period in 1980, Carpenter shot five people to death with a .38-calibre pistol.

They were Richard Stowers, 19; his fiancée, Cynthia Moreland, 18; Anne Alderson, 26; Diane O'Connell, 22; and Shauna May, 25.

The following spring, Carpenter raped and shot to death a co-worker at a print shop, Heather Scaggs, 20, whose naked body was found in Big Basin State Park, near Santa Cruz.

He also killed student Ellen Marie Hansen, 20, at Henry Cowell Redwoods State Park in Santa Cruz County after she resisted his rape attempt.

Carpenter was caught because Hansen's boyfriend, Steven

GOTCHA! Carpenter was nicked in 1981

Haertle, whom he had shot in the neck and left for dead, survived to identify him – and he was finally arrested in May 1981.

Carpenter was sentenced to death after being convicted of the Santa Cruz murders in 1984 in Los Angeles County, where the trial was moved because of publicity.

A jury in San Diego County convicted him of the Marin killings in 1988.

And a judge sentenced him to die.

The state Supreme Court upheld both of Carpenter's death sentences in the 1990s, but California

Governor Newsom's order looks likely to stop that.

Besides, at 88, there are some who question why it is worth keeping him on Death Row in any case.

His lawyers have argued he should be spared because he was psychologically "damned at an early age" by abusive parents – a domineering mother and a violent father.

But the trial's first prosecution witness, Lois DeAndrade, had described how Carpenter attacked her with a knife and a hammer in 1960, saying he targeted her because "every once in a while, I have this funny quirk".

'This guy has got an X on his back'

SUSPECT: Camello

MURDERED: Cali

COPS WARN MAN WHO GUNNED DOWN MAFIA BOSS WILL BE KILLED IN JAIL

THE man suspected of gunning down mob boss Francesco "Franky Boy" Cali will be SLAIN in jail, cops warn.

Officials haven't yet confirmed that the infamous Gambino crime family has posted a bounty on Anthony Comello but "the general feeling is that there's an 'X' on this guy's back", one source said.

"He's going to have some issues in jail," a high-ranking NYPD official said.

"Maybe there's some guys who are wiseguys in jail who will show their allegiance to the Gambinos and say 'We'll take care of this guy,'" a source said.

Sources said Cali's gangland cronies would likely wait until Comello was serving time in an upstate prison before going for the kill.

Shooting

But that wouldn't prevent another inmate from taking matters into his own hands to try to score a reward or simply to boost his reputation behind bars, sources said.

Comello, 24, is locked up in New Jersey's Ocean County Jail pending charges in last week's fatal shooting of Cali, 53, outside his home in the Todt Hill section of Staten Island.

Man in fight to keep sex doll

A COMPUTER boffin is taking a customs department to court after officials confiscated his imported SEX DOLL!

The unnamed man, from Trinidad, has received the permission of a high court judge to challenge the seizure of his doll, which customs say violates the law banning "indecent or obscene articles".

His lawsuit intends to challenge the decision and demand the return of the item.

His lawsuit also seeks answers from customs officials over whether there is a complete ban on adult toys.

STUNNING Kelly McGregor loves having sex ANIMALISTIC style and has admitted her favourite number is 69 – for all the right reasons!

The 32DD Stoke-on-Trent stunna said her best bonks are when she strips off and goes back to basics with her rough and ready romps.

Kelly, 28, confessed: "I like my bonking to be quite primitive."

"Let's keep it real and back to basics – like cavemen did it."

"I love sex so much. I enjoy the entire process – from the foreplay to the actual deed, with someone you really like, of course!"

"And 69ers are great, too! It's fun when you're both being pleased at the same time."

"I love watching myself having sex and most guys like it, too."

KILLER CHOPPED UP VICTIM & PUT BITS IN A SUITCASE

SPECIAL GEAR:
Suspect bought 'kill' kit

VICTIM: Jassy Correia

CHARGED: Coleman

A KILLER kidnapped a young woman on a night out with pals, strangled her to death in his car and then took her body home.

Louis Coleman III bought protective gear and bleach from a supermarket before chopping victim Jassy Correia into bits and stuffing her body parts into a suitcase which he later put in the boot of his car.

And when police officers stopped Coleman's car he told them: "She's in the boot."

Jassy, 23, had been out celebrating her birthday with friends in Boston, Massachusetts, and was seen leaving a club in the early hours. She was captured on CCTV getting into Coleman's car around 2am and investigators were able to track his vehicle to an apartment block in Providence, Rhode Island.

CCTV also showed Coleman getting out of the vehicle about two hours later. He retrieved a blanket from inside and was later seen carrying a body with "long hair and clothing which matched the description of the victim.

Footage then shows Coleman leaving the apartment two days later before returning with hopping bags.

Investigators got a receipt from a store that showed Coleman bought three Tyvex protective jumpsuits, duct tape, an odour respirator gas mask, two scented candles, a mask, gloves, bleach and safety goggles from the retailer.

The following day he was seen hauling a suitcase from the flat and loading it into the boot of his car.

Jassy's body parts were later found inside the case. Investigators believe the young mum died of strangulation.

Coleman now faces a charge of kidnapping resulting in death, which may lead to the death penalty.

Schools let drag nonce read to kids

A MAN who dressed in women's clothes to read children stories is a convicted pervert, it's emerged.

Albert Garza, 32, a registered sex offender, was chosen to take part in a public libraries initiative called Drag Queen Storytime.

In the programme, men dressed as ladies read to children from books specially selected for politically-correct content.

Garza, who read under the name Tatiana Mala-Niña, was convicted in 2009 and ordered to serve five years of probation for noncercy.

The Houston Public Library in Texas issued a statement admitting that it failed to complete a background check on Garza (above) before he was allowed to participate.

Authorities didn't want to "stigmatise" members of the drag queen community by checking if they were slavering nonces, it's believed.

A library spokesman said: "We deeply regret this oversight."

Killer believed stab victim was werewolf

A MAN who stabbed a shop worker claims he thought his victim was a WEREWOLF.

Defence lawyers say Pankaj Bhasin was in a psychotic state and thought the victim was a mythical beast.

Bradford Jackson, 65, was found dead with numerous box cutter stab wounds on July 13, 2018, inside Window Universe in New Jersey.

Bhasin, 34, was found naked in a car nearby and was arrested on suspicion of murder.

The defence says Bhasin suffered from bipolar disorder and attacked his own family before having a complete psychotic breakdown.

He had recently checked out of a psychiatric hospital when he left his New Jersey home.

The defence are asking jurors to find Bhasin not guilty by reason of insanity.

TEACHER SHAGGED TEEN WHILE HIS MUM WAS AT WORK

SEXUAL ASSAULT CHARGE: Married Sarah Brooks

A HIGH school PE teacher was arrested after she was accused of having sex with a student.

Married Sarah Brooks has been charged with a sexual assault by persons with supervisory or disciplinary authority.

The pupil's mum said the 25-year-old teacher had sex with her 17-year-old son several times during off-campus tutoring, including on one occasion in the family home while she was at work.

The principal of Archer High School in Georgia, USA, sent a letter to parents advising that a police investigation had been launched after the school became aware of the relationship.

Trust

Brooks resigned shortly afterwards.

The school letter read: "We received a report about this situation and our school immediately contacted the police and the school district's Division of Human Resources.

"As this has been and continues to be an active police investigation, there are not many details I can share.

By JAYNE FERGUSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

"However, I can tell you that the teacher has resigned from Gwinnett County Public Schools and the school system will be forwarding information about these allegations to the Professional Standards Commission.

"While this is not a situation we have experienced at our school previously, one time is too many.

"Ethics matter, and the trust our community places in its educators matters to Archer and to Gwinnett County Public Schools.

"This is not something we take for granted."

RESIGNED: Teacher has left Archer High School

Pizza babe Julia's just bootiful

NOT long ago, internet sensation Julia Rose almost broke the internet when she posed in the bath chowing down on a slice of pizza.

Now the 23-year-old is at it again - churning the web into a froth thanks to a NAKED snap that revealed her bot-bot in an infinity pool.

A fan said: "An arse like that? I would rim her until my tongue bled."

#THE CRAZIEST VIRALS OUT THERE

mad sh*t!

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Sam,

I'VE been going short on sex lately, as my missus is happy just to sit in front of the telly watching crap soaps.

As a result, I've been spending more and more time in the pub with my mates and recently I pulled a bird in my local – she's 21, and I'm 38.

We had a few drinks and then she invited me back to her place. She wasted little time in getting my cock out and I soon had my seven-incher down her throat.

Just as I was about to blast off, she told me to stick it up her arse. I couldn't believe my luck and I pounded her hard and fast until we both climaxed.

Since then, however, she's been ringing my mobile and home number and my missus is starting to suspect something's up. What can I do to stop these calls?

AF, Newcastle

Sam says...

CHANGE your numbers!

Dear Sam.

I'M a 23-year-old car mechanic and the other day a gorgeous babe came into the garage where I work.

She's 22, with long, dark hair and massive tits and after a bit of flirting she gave me her number – telling me to drop her motor off at her flat later that night.

When I got there, she was already revved up and put her hands inside my overalls.

I was soon rock-hard and flipped her over to slip my shaft up her fanny. I went from zero to 60mph in pretty quick time and I soon squirted my man muck inside her.

But she wasn't finished. She massaged my gear stick back to hardness and took it down her throat until I shot my load again.

But the next day in work, my gaffer told me he'll service the next female punter. Help!

FT, Sussex

Sam says...

LOOKS like your sex drive has crashed!

Bondage games brought lot of pain and little gain

Dear Sam,

MY hubby and I decided to try some bondage games – but they all turned out to be painful disasters.

He insisted I play a dominating role, so he bought me a black lacy basque which I wore with fishnet stockings and high heels.

I'm tall and perched on these stilettos I was a bit unstable. Add in the wine we'd drunk and it was no surprise when I toppled over, knocking the wind out of him as he lay on the bed waiting for horny action.

But we ploughed on and I tied him to the bed. He was bollock naked but his todger looked far from being ready for action.

I set to and gave what I thought were a few gentle whacks with my whip.

He was soon squealing in what I thought was ecstasy – but it turned out was agony.

By the time he'd managed to convince me of his plight, he was too sore to service me.

However, one thing did go right. I released his bonds and he tied me up instead and brought me to a series of shuddering orgasms, first with his fingers and then with his tongue.

We can laugh about it now, but should we should try any more bondage games?

HF, east Yorkshire

Sam says...

YES. But stick to what turns you on.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

I'm making up for lost sex time – with hubby's pal

Dear Sam,

ME and my husband have been married for 12 years and we seem to have hit a bit of a stale patch.

He's happy going to the pub with his mates – playing pool, watching every bloody football match that's on the TV and getting lashed – while I go out to the local clubs.

One Saturday night he'd gone for a drink and I went with my pals on our weekly knees-up.

We went to a few wine bars and by the time we got to a nightclub I was tipsy.

Ratted

I was standing at the bar when I felt a tap on my shoulder – and when I turned round it was my hubby!

He was with his best mate and they were absolutely ratted.

It seems they'd had a skinful in the pub and had jumped in a cab to town.

My fella was knocking back the whisky and I could tell that he'd soon collapse and be out for the count.

And sure enough he did – on to a table of drinks!

A couple of bouncers rushed over and carried him out as his pal staggered off behind them.

That was that, I thought, but then I saw his mate walking back towards me. He said he'd put my man in a taxi home and sneaked back into the club while the bouncers weren't looking.

So I took him to a quiet corner of the club, where it was pretty dark and no-one was around, in case the door staff saw him.

He seemed to sober up and he asked me for a dance when the DJ played some slow numbers.

As we danced closer and closer to each other he began to feel my arse and I didn't object – it was nice to get some male attention to be honest.

In fact, I decided to flirt back with him and ended up grabbing his stiffening manhood through his trousers.

We were both horny as hell, so we went back to his place where we stripped off and pounced on each other straight away.

He had a really nice, toned body – much better than my drunkard hubby.

And I gasped as he thrust his massive cock into my aching pussy.

That was the beginning of a sizzling sex session that lasted until dawn.

We even licked and sucked on each other in the 69 position – something I'd never tried before.

Then it was time to go back to my boring old husband.

But I've been seeing his mate for more sizzling sex sessions.

Am I a bit of a slag?

JR, Manchester

Sam says...

IF your fella wants to act like a prick, then keep on treating him like one.

I seized chance to play while wife was away

Dear Sam,

SINCE my wife had our first baby we've hardly had sex. She says that she's just not interested at the moment and I've tried to remain faithful to her.

But last month her best mate paid us a visit. We were alone as the missus had gone to stay with her mum for a few days – a fact I'm sure her mate was fully aware of – so I thought I'd try it on.

She was well up for it and before long we were in bed. She's got a great a body and massive tits and I couldn't wait to get my tongue around her stiff nipples.

After a bit of probing and teasing, she begged me to fk her. I have to say it was a real turn-on seeing my cock slide in and out of her wet pussy as I took her from behind until we both had an energetic climax.

Sticky

She then asked me to do her up the bum – something my wife has never let me do with her.

I was in heaven as I felt her sphincter relax and I pushed slowly in and out.

Later on she gave me blowjob and let me shoot my sticky wad all over her tits.

I try and see her as often as I can and the sex gets better every time.

She likes to do it in sexy lingerie and life with my wife is so boring I'm considering leaving her.

Her mate said she'll finish with her boyfriend and that I can move in with her.

What do you think?

PY, Dorset

Sam says...

IT'S your call.

Dear Sam,

MY girlfriend left her Facebook account logged in and out of curiosity I saw some private messages to some of her mates.

At first I was pretty smug, because she was saying lots of nice things about me, especially how good I was in the sex department.

But then I broke out into a cold sweat when I saw some messages saying how she thinks I am going to propose to her soon.

She says she can't wait to marry me and have my babies.

I was shocked beyond belief – we've only been together for a year and I'm in no way thinking about proposing any time soon!

I ended up going out with the lads down the pub and getting slaughtered to the point where I took the barmaid back to hers in a taxi and slept with her.

The next morning I regretted everything and can't believe I'd been so stupid.

To make matters even worse, the barmaid told everyone about our romp and it won't be long before my other half finds out.

Please help!

LG, Derbyshire

Sam says...

IT'S your own fault – you should never read someone else's messages, you snoop.

MARIA WHITTAKER

By SIMON DEAN

simon@sundaysport.co.uk

MELON-HEAVY Maria Whittaker was, for a time, the nation's No.1 Page 3 girl.

The Hounslow model, now 47, made her topless debut back in 1985 while still a teenager, and soon became one of the most famous faces in the UK.

With her huge brunette hair, big brown eyes, cheeky smile and all-natural 36DD breasts, she became one of the most celebrated glamour models of the 1980s with the likes of Samantha Fox and Linda Lusardi.

Ranked

In 1987, Maria appeared on the cover of computer game Barbarian: The Ultimate Warrior with Gladiators star Michael Van Wijk – also known as Wolf.

She was also the star of Maria Whittaker's X-Mas Strip Poker, a computer game released in 1988.

And in 1989 she was voted Page 3 Girl Of The Year and was ranked as Glamour Girl No.80 in Glamour Girls: An Illustrated Encyclopedia.

But Maria is not just a glamour model.

Even before breaking into modelling, Maria appeared as a Hill's Angel in two episodes of The Benny Hill Show in 1983.

Now the babe is married to rapper Michael West – aka The Rebel MC – and is a full-time mum to their kids!

IT'S ONLY ANOTHER AMAZING MIDWEEK Sport OFFER!

GET FREE XXX FILMS!

Don't miss out on a triple sex treat!

HOLD onto yer hats... and anything else that comes to hand...cos
we've got a real treat for you today!

Every Sunday Sport reader who goes along to a Private Shop this week will get not ONE, not TWO but THREE FREE sex films on DVD!

Amazing, right? Amazing but true! Britain's leading chain of sex shops is working in partnership with your favourite newspaper to bring you the sort of offers you're really interested in.

In every issue of the Sport will bring you a new offer, be it free

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

DVDs and toys or unbeatable money off offers.

To get your copies of The Business, The Small Delights Of Koreena and All Pleasure No Pain all you have to do to collect your FREE XXX sex films is turn up at one of the Private Shops listed on this page with a copy of the Sport (any edition will do). There is no minimum purchase and no hidden charges!

Amazing

This amazing triple bill, which comes on one disc for your convenience, is jam-packed with full-on sex from some of the hottest young talent in the business.

But be warned, this is not faked sex but actual footage of horny young people having actual penetrative sex to completion.

And remember, it's 100% FREE when you call in at your local Private Shop.

If you can't make it to one of the shops then you can still get your films by using the credit card line or by using the coupon below.

But don't mess about, this offer won't be around forever...we can't afford it, for one thing!

And don't miss another amazing offer in Wednesday's Midweek Sport.

'I love to whisper

I HAVE always wanted to join the Mile High Club.

I've been talking about it for years, and I'm definitely going to do it before I die.

I just think having sex on a plane is the ultimate in naughtiness.

Even if I get caught – I don't care!

I did it in a car once. We were parked in a car park and it was brilliant – especially as someone nearly walked past.

To be honest, I think it's more exciting if you can get caught at it!

I definitely like to be in control in the bedroom – I love being on top.

Of all the different sexual positions, I just like being on top the best.

And I try to impress my man with a nice bra and knicker set, too – or maybe a short, silky nightie.

I like whispering in a man's ear with a bit of dirty talk.

That's guaranteed to get us in the mood.

Then I can get on top and take charge!

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

LANE WILLIAMS

BRIGHTON babe Lane Williams is the seaside resort's top attraction, says newsagent owner Bill Simpson.

The 56-year-old, from Leyland, Lancashire, has never been to Brighton – but if he did, there's only one sight he'd want to see.

Bill is a huge fan of 29-year-old Lane's 34C pert pair and said:

"I've heard Brighton's got a pier and a pavilion with some fancy stuff on it, but that's nothing compared to Lane.

"I'll have a stiff pier myself once I've clapped eyes on her norks – they're something else!"

ADRIANA

CALL Centre salesman Jordan Hollins is keen to see his favourite glamour girl Adriana.

Southend geezer Jordan, 28, loves the blonde babe's 30C mouthfuls and dreams of getting his hands on 25-year-old Adriana's small but perfect boobs himself one day.

He said: "She's so fit, a gorgeous face, stunning body and lovely knockers. I dream of getting a girl like her one day!"

Nina, from Reading, Berks, has wowed her fans with her kinky topless shoots – and we're sure Jordan will be more than happy with this photo.

ANISSA KATE

HANDYMAN Kelvin Summers has plenty of tools in his kit but there's only one toy he needs to add – and that's Anissa Kate.

The 39-year-old does odd jobs for people around his home town of Birkenhead – but it's Bristol beauty Anissa, 29, who really gets his gears going.

Kelvin said: "She's such a hottie and every time she's in the paper I spend ages ogling her 36D bare boobs – she's got a real handful.

"I've got tons of tools but I wouldn't mind one type of Toy.

"I'd even introduce Anissa to my very own screwdriver and see if she fancies a play with that!"

BIG MISS:

SCOTS CAN GET OFF TO A FLYER

SCOTLAND begin their campaign to be one of the 20 nations who qualify automatically for Euro 2020 in Kazakhstan tomorrow afternoon.

The Euro 2020 finals will be played in 12 different countries with the first two in each of the 10 Groups qualifying. The remaining four places will be via play-offs linked to the new UEFA Nations League.

Scotland have been drawn in a Group with Belgium, Russia, Cyprus, Kazakhstan and San Marino and are 12/1 at BetVictor to win Group 1 with Belgium 1/5 favourites and Russia 4/1.

The Tartan Army have lost just one of their last 10 competitive games and I would be disappointed if they didn't get a positive result in their first meeting with Kazakhstan although it may be a point.

Skipper Andy Robertson will miss the game and that is a huge blow given his outstanding club form for Liverpool. Alex McLeish's side are a shade of odds on at BetVictor at 17/20 with a draw at 23/10 and a home for the hosts in Astana at 18/5. Scotland are 250/1 to win Euro 2020 with BetVictor.

Wales have lost four of their last five games under Ryan Giggs, but they can go into Sunday's Euro 2020 qualifier with Slovakia on the back of a win at the Racecourse Ground Wrexham against Trinidad & Tobago tomorrow night in a friendly international.

Worthy

Gareth Bale was a scorer for Real Madrid in their win against Celta Vigo on Saturday – Zinedine Zidane's first game back. Bale's future remains uncertain but there will always be a warm welcome for the player in his homeland as befits one who has been involved in 12 goals (9 goals 3 assists) in his last 13 internationals.

I expect the hosts to gain a comfortable win against the Soca Warriors who are managed by former Wrexham player Dennis Lawrence. Wales are 1/7 to gain a win with the visitors 20s and draw at 11/2.

Wales are 10/3 with BetVictor to win a Group that involves Croatia, Slovakia, Hungary and Azerbaijan. Croatia are worthy favourites – although too short at 1/3 – but Giggs will be confident that Wales finish in the top two and qualify automatically for Euro 2020.

Northern Ireland are without a win in their last eight competitive fixtures (D1 L7) but I feel they will make a winning start against Estonia although the visitors have won the last two games between the nations.

Despite putting three past Israel in a friendly I don't expect to see many goals in Belfast. With the resurgent Netherlands and Germany in their group Michael O'Neill's side must get a result against Estonia.

Northern Ireland are 1/2 to beat Estonia at BetVictor, 33/1 to win Group C with Germany 4/9 and the Netherlands 13/8. Northern Ireland entertain Belarus on Sunday and they badly need maximum points.

I feel it is just a play-off that the Green and White Army can target and the presence of Die Mannschaft who are 6/1 to lift the Trophy at Wembley in July 2020.

I'LL BE BACK:
Alexis Sanchez
says he'll do better for Reds

San: I can still be main man

ALEXIS VOWS TO PUT UNITED NIGHTMARE BEHIND HIM

ALEXIS Sanchez says he can still be a success at Manchester United.

The 30-year-old Chile ace has been a flop since moving to Old Trafford from Arsenal last year.

He is facing at least another month on the sidelines with a knee problem.

But his form has been so poor that Ole Gunnar Solskjaer will hardly notice.

Sanchez has managed just two goals in 23 outings this season and five in his 41 matches in total for United.

That's a big change from his strike-rate for the Gunners where he looked one of the world's best forwards.

But Sanchez still thinks he

By PAUL THOMAS

can be considered a success at Old Trafford and is determined to play his part in winning trophies for the club.

He said: "I want to keep showing my love for football. I know what I can do."

"I still have belief in my ability."

"United are such an important club, not only in England but on a global level, and I would love to help bring a trophy to the supporters."

"Obviously, I want to make the United fans really happy. I want to score goals. I want to bring them joy. I want to win silverware."

"When we lost last year's FA Cup final to Chelsea, I was not happy."

"Not happy at all. In fact, I was sad because I just wanted to make our wonderful supporters happy."

Sanchez has repeated his claim of being a lifelong United supporter.

He added: "When I was younger, I liked United. I swear. As a small child I liked United, I really liked them and I want to show this and bring the people joy because, obviously, I want to win."

Meanwhile, credible reports in Spain suggest that Real Madrid are trying to get their hands on Old Trafford goalie David De Gea.

They are even willing to offer Thibaut Courtois and a big cheque to force the deal over the line.

Madrid boss Zinedine Zidane is a huge fan of the Reds keeper — and dropped Courtois from his comeback game at the Bernabeu.

The 26-year-old Belgian has come in for stick from the home fans and is likely to be moving this summer whatever happens.

His family are not keen on a return to England even to play for United.

Paris St Germain looks a more likely destination as they look to replace veteran Gianluigi Buffon.

The Frenchmen also have Alphonse Areola but would prefer a higher profile player between the sticks.

DRAGONS ON RAM RAID

Whos has chance to change bad luck

AARON Ramsey is winning his race against time to play for Wales against Slovakia.

The Dragons need all their stars on show for the crunch opening Euro 2020 qualifier. The Arsenal — and soon to be Juventus — midfielder will sit out tonight's friendly against Trinidad And Tobago in the hope of being ready for the weekend.

He is currently nursing a knock but boss Ryan Giggs hopes to have Ramsey available. He needs him given that Bournemouth middle man David Brooks is a doubt along with Tom Lawrence and Sam Vokes who are almost certain to be out.

The gaffer said: "We are hoping to have Aaron fit for the weekend but he won't be in full training until Thursday and we'll find out more then."

Another man who will be missing is Chelsea defender Ethan Ampadu who has a back problem that Giggs is putting down to the youngster's growing pains.

He said: "He's bigger every time I see him! It's been frustrating with the injuries he's had."

Along with many Chelsea fans, the Wales manager is not happy that his rising star is not getting enough time on the pitch under Maurizio Sarri.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Giggs added: "He's not getting enough minutes and it's frustrating. He's caught in between because of his quality being too good for youth ages but not quite able to force his way into the full squad. He may have to look at a loan but he could force his way into a 1st team place at Chelsea."

But the main man — Gareth Bale — is fighting fit after scoring at the weekend on his recall to the Real Madrid side.

Giggs believes that gives the Dragons a major boost heading into a tough qualifying campaign.

He said: "Usually when Gareth scores he usually goes on a run so that's good news. It was great to see him get 90 minutes under his belt against Celta Vigo."

Chance

"Gareth is the main man. But I want to take the pressure off him somewhat. The emergence of Wilson, Brooks and others has given us lots of attacking options."

It seems strange to have a friendly just before the qualifying match when players have so many games to play for their clubs.

But Giggs is taking the game against the minnows from Trinidad And Tobago seriously.

He added: "Obviously we want to win tomorrow, the players in the Wrexham game do have a chance to stake a claim for the match at the weekend. We want to win tomorrow but our focus is all about the weekend."

Swansea starlet Dan James is likely to feature, with Giggs saying: "He's been fantastic."

"We are taking care of him this week because his sprinting stats for the past few games are right up there."

FINGERS CROSSED: Ramsey

WINNING POST WITH BEN MORGAN

AFTER a couple of unlucky runs, WHOSHOTWHO (NAP) is ready to get his head back in front.

He didn't stay the trip at Haydock when he finished behind a couple of dour stayers, but he put in a super round of jumping which made you think he is more than capable of winning a big pot.

He then went to Ludlow where he unseated before going to Taunton last time where again, he travelled like the winner but didn't stay the three mile trip.

He returns to Haydock in a four runner race over 2m 4f which looks sure to suit any sort of odds against is a good price. I respect Knockrobin but I think the selection should have too much class.

ARDERA CROSS has been running in some good races this term finishing third more often than his trainer would like.

He takes a drop down in class this afternoon which means he has to shoulder top weight, but his young rider negates 10lb of that burden and that should be enough to see him get his head in front as his rivals don't look up to his standard.

Short

A similar comment applies to KHAGE who runs at Chepstow and providing luck in running, he should prove too good as well.

He is the least exposed, scoupiest horse in the field and probably has the best form to his name. Unlucky the last day when just going down by three quarters of a length to a Paul Nicholls youngster, Daryl Jacob will be ensuring that there is no hard luck stories today and I can see him going very well.

With three short price horses tipped up so far, I am going to take a punt on BILLINGSLEY returning to form now he returns to the scene of his two most impressive performances.

Snapped up by Dai Walters and The Potters after those two runs at Chepstow, he looked set to progress further this term but for whatever reason he hasn't quite returned to that standard. A return to this track and soft ground could bring the best out in him and I think he is worth a punt. ■ Ben's Best Bet - Lucky 15 - Whoshotwho, Ardera Cross, Khage & Billingsley

KEOGH BONE IDOL FOR IRELAND

RICHARD Keogh is prepared to play through the pain barrier for Ireland.

The Derby defender broke a bone in his hand against Stoke last week but wouldn't go under the knife so he can face Gibraltar on Saturday night.

The 32-year-old could have had surgery but is putting his country before his comfort.

Keogh said: "I went for the X-ray and at first they were talking about surgery."

"This was before I spoke to the hand surgeon and I didn't particularly want to do that, I wanted to get his opinion first before I did anything.

By ANDY MILLOM

"When I spoke to him, I just said, 'Listen, if there's a chance of me playing, I just want to carry on playing if that's at all possible. I don't want to have surgery'. I'd rather just take the risk, I suppose, and just crack on."

"He saw the X-ray and said, 'I think we can do that'. If it hadn't been the middle of my finger where it's protected by the other two, I think I might have had to have surgery and been out for bit."

"But fingers crossed, with this now, I can just resume training, playing and carry on, so it worked out well in the end."

Keogh will have to wear a protective cast — but Mick McCarthy could still leave him on the sidelines given the low standard of the opposition.

The defender added: "I had a good conversation with the hand surgeon, and people have played with it."

Keogh is backing McCarthy to get the qualifiers off to a good start.

He said: "The way it ended last year for us, it wasn't great, I think we can all hold our hands up to that. As players, we have got to take responsibility. We could've performed a lot better."

"But whatever has happened in the past is in the past. Mick's coming in, he's a fantastic manager, a fantastic guy. His record, not just for Ireland but at club level, is very good."

"It's up to us now as players to try to step up and have a good qualifying campaign."

SHAW THING

Luke limps out of England squad

LUKE Shaw is out of England's Euro 2020 qualifiers against Montenegro and the Czech Republic.

The Man United left-back has picked up an injury and has been forced to withdraw.

It's more bad news for Gareth Southgate after John Stones, Fabian Delph and Ruben Loftus-Cheek all pulled out.

Those knocks have

By JOHN ANTHONY

opened the door for a couple of newer faces in James Ward-Prowse and Callum Hudson-Odoi to stake their claim for the Three Lions.

The latter hasn't started a Premier League game yet for Chelsea so could make his full debut for country before club.

And Ward-Prowse has been a bright spot in an otherwise poor season for Southampton who are struggling near the Premier League drop zone.

The attacking midfielder has scored a couple of brilliant goals to give the Saints hope of staying in the top flight.

Ward-Prowse won one cap two years ago but has had injury issues since.

Saints and England legend Matt Le Tissier thinks he'll be a big hit for Southgate. He said: "For the last couple of months he has been outstanding."

"Every time I've seen him he's putting in man-of-the-match performances."

"His work rate has gone up a couple of notches, he's much more aggressive on the pitch now in terms of getting close to players and getting tackles in and he quality of his goals have been outstanding."
